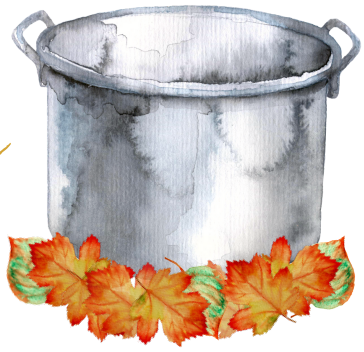
How to Host a Neighborhood Soup Party



The air is crisp & inviting--

Every fall, we gather in the front yard for a soup party with friends & neighbors. We never know how many neighbors to expect, so I make a couple different soups and keep them simmering on the stove.

Hosting Tips

- Variety. Make two pots of soup. Use recipes that serve a crowd or can be double easily.
- Self-Serve from the Stove. Encourage guests to help themselves.
- Use a Mix of Bowls and Mugs. Don't worry if you don't have enough bowls; pull out all your coffee mugs, too. It's fun to mix it up!
- Set up a Topping Bar. Soup toppings are the best part! Put out plenty of versatile toppings like cheese, chips, chives, and sour cream.
- Make It a Potluck. Ask your neighbors to bring a pot of their favorite soup, too.
- Head to the Front Yard. Take your mismatched mugs of soup and head outside to the Turquoise Table.
